FROM Nancy Jowett		DEPARTMENT ASHBURIAN
TO Rebecca Sandiford, Editor		DATE 23 July, 1992.
SUBJECT ROUGH DRAFT of the ASHBURIAN 1991-1992.

MESSAGE This is probably the last memo I'll have to send you so I'm kind of sorry I have to be so personally critical. I've gone over this rough draft and I love most of your ideas. Granted, it needs some polish, but the book shows great potential.

My only real problem concerns the inside cover and the facing page. I mean I know you're the editor, I know you've worked hard - it's just that I find this 'wallpapering' of yourself across two pages a bit much. I mean, you didn't get this far on your own. Consider the following people: Hilary Abbott, Mary Gauthier, Ethel Pryde, Roy Napier, Geoffrey Thomas, Anne Valiquette, Elaine Valiquette, Mike Valiquette - everyone who donated photos and so on. Think of the hours of typing Brad Watkins did, Sarah Storey helped us all year, to say nothing of all the photography work Chris Holmes completed. Anyhow, I've taken the liberty of sticking a few photos over your EGOMANIACAL layout - hope you don't mind! We wouldn't have reached this stage of production without this little two-page outburst of vanity, working with you all these years on the Ashburians has been fun. What better can be said after all the drudge work, the frustration, the accomplishment, the bad food, wierd hours, fatigue? - that the work comes down to fun is the highest professional compliment I can pay you. I'm almost sorry you're graduating. Meanwhile, we have to set a date to proofread this book.

Nancy Jowett

Mrs. Jowett

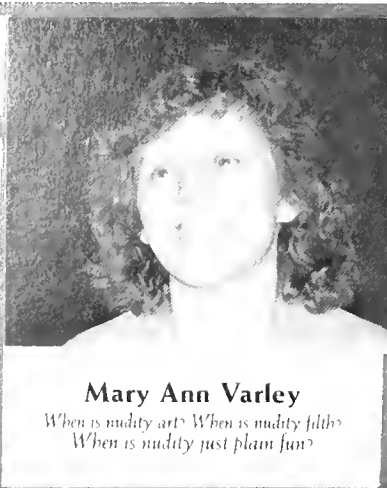

You're complaining to the wrong person! I didn't do this layout; as I've told you before, (MANY TIMES too bad you WEREN'T LISTENING) I HATE THESE PICTURES. I mean, could it be possible for me to flare my nostrils a little more? I can only think that it was probably one of my MANY fans who did the work on these pages... like maybe Mike Valiquette or Dean Bajramovic.

Oh, and one other thing: When you finish the REAL inside covers (you know, the Nancy Jowett two-page spread), cut the pictures of Sarah and Brad, Chris, Mike, etc. a little more carefully. I want this to be a neat, professional job, PLEASE. Thanks for reading this.

Rebecca.

PS Might I stress
ONCE MORE - I hate these stupid pictures.
That means DON'T USE THEM!

INSTRUCTIONS

Anyone can play the Staff Bored Game. Students, teachers, puppies, politicians, Californians, and Antarcitians alike. Although we can not guarantee politicians will have any fun with it, nor that the puppies will walk away from it feeling fulfilled.

- 1) Get some DICE. When you're finished watching it, bring it back to West Coast Video or wherever you rented it from.
- 2) Borrow the little playing pieces and one die from Monopoly.
- 3) Each player starts on the square marked START, with a binder, a pencil, a calculator, a dictionary, thirty pieces of three ringed lined paper, five pieces of graph paper, two of which are semi-log, a pencil sharpener, an eraser, tight shoes, a bad haircut, a baloney sandwich on rye, a cake with a tile in it, a working knowledge of how to fix a leaky faucet, an extra sweater in case it gets cold, and a fish tank.
- 4) Determine who is to go first by fighting it out.
- 5) Taking turns, each player rolls the die, and moves her or his playing piece ahead the number indicated on the die. The player must follow the instructions written on the square on which he or she lands. Did I mention you also need an egg timer? Actually a watch with little second hands or a digital one would probably work too. (Incidentally, the size of the second hand has nothing to do with the effectiveness of the watch as a timer, please don't be overly concerned.)
- 6) Unless otherwise specified, each player has two minutes to complete the CHALLENGE, or answer the question. Every time you fail on a square, miss a turn. If you win a CHALLENGE, go again.
- 7) If you're hungry, get some snacks. If Beverly Hills 90210 is on, trust me, ditch the game, honestly.
- 8) The winner is determined by who completes, successfully, the most CHALLENGES (you might want to keep track). The losers then take turns reading passages from any L.M. Forester novel that happens to be about, out loud, to the puppy.

DEEP THOUGHTS

I don't think I've ever seen a baby pigeon before but there are, like,
millions of those birds
so maybe they just replicate behind trees or in the eaves of buildings or something.
Come to think of it,
I've never seen a baby squirrel, either.

FROM	N. Jowett	DEPARTMENT	English
TODD - Kelly just sent this for possible publication - I need your advice - quoted, she's fourth year English at U. of T. but the depth here is incredible. - NJ.		DATE	11 May 1992
		SUBJECT	Suspected plagiarism of Kelly Cook '89.

Nancy,
I taught Kelly. She would never be capable of such emotional and intellectual depth. I mean, that bit about the baby squirrels is just breathtaking. Breathtaking. I know you're fond of her, but she can't possibly have written it. Check up on your Milton or Eliot - maybe even Dylan Thomas. Before you print it you must be sure of the source. Thanks for running it by me first! Good luck with the book.

NJ-
Who is this Kelly person anyhow? Is she the one who said I was a Mexican jumping bean or some hyperactive vegetable in the 88-89 Ashburian? I'm still offended.

Rebecca - Sadley,
I must ask Kelly's piece - it seems she stole it from Ross Varley. NJ

Board Reception - Centennial Volunteers.

Ladies and gentlemen, it is my great pleasure and honour, as the chairman of the Board of Governors, to welcome you to the school this evening.

It is not my purpose to say a great deal, but simply to open the proceedings by remembering what a fine celebration the past year has been in the life of Ashbury College.

Over the past months we have celebrated 100 years - a century - of this school, we have celebrated the work and dedication of countless people over that time.

Tonight however, we are gathered here to particularly celebrate you, each and every one of the volunteers - 'very special persons' - without whom Ashbury's centennial simply would not have happened.

R: Can you type up Mr. Smellie's speech to the Centennial volunteers? His writing isn't that easy to read. M.

OK! (Does this mean centennial is over?)

MESSAGE

Could you please give us the names and job descriptions of all the seniors involved in the production of the ZOMBIES this year? Also, do we have the right dates? (Wed. 29 April- Sat. 2 May; Tues. 5 May - Fri. 8 May) And, was it in Argyle Hall and did it cost 10 dollars to see it? We've done a full pictorial layout in the Junior School book since most of the actors were juniors. However, I know Michael Varley acted in it, and seniors did front of house and makeup and so on. Would you mind filling in all the necessary info. ASAP. Thanks.

Rebecca

No problem! STAGE MANAGERS: Matt LeBarge, Mala Bhaumik. MAKEUP: Michael Varley, Lisa Brousseau, Jamie Wisniewski. FRONT OF HOUSE: Becky Bisson, Seamus Rask, Elizabeth Wilson. DIRECTORS: Cynthia Freeman, Greg Simpson, and me... Alex Menzies. Alex.

P.S. I think the photo coverage in the Junior Ashburian is great, but could you make special mention of Michael Varley who took one of the major acting roles with only two days notice?

PRESS RELEASE

ASHBURY STUDENTS EXCEL IN MATH COMPETITION

Ashbury College students, this year winners of five athletic championships in the city, have recorded another first, this time in the UNIVERSITY OF WATERLOO EUCLID MATHEMATICS CONTEST. They came first in the city, eighth in the province and 24th in the country. Nationwide there were 1044 schools competing.

Gordon Wong and Simon Dawes made the Canadian Honour Roll, placing 96th and 130th out of 13,044 students.

Certificates of Distinction were awarded to 13 other students who were within the top 25% in the country. The Euclid Contest has traditionally been one of the most demanding tests of students ability to solve mathematical problems creatively.

Ashburian Staff: I'm just not too sure that everything on this page is a "legitimate" activity - can you check it out before final printing? Thanks Mrs. J.

It was fun. It had snow. Some of us could ski. Though some blew over 200 ducks on the first day. We all had some interesting times by the way. We sang, we laughed, we had unfortunate circumstances with rooms and doors, or the lack thereof. The skiing was excellent and the food was expensive. The times and bonding that you do when together and away from school is incredible. We all enjoyed the cliff, except for Steve. For some reason that ~~was~~ ^{was} ~~crashed~~ ^{crashed} the thought.

Pegase we were and we wore that proudly on our T-shirts. Except for the incident with clashing the bus ride the trip couldn't have been better.

Jewels, Bohner, Monty, The Flying Dutchman, Dr. Snuggly, Art, and the four grade nines would like to thank Malcolm!!!

What is art? ~~I-Don't-know-~~ The expression of one's perception of reality through a medium, this ~~is~~ is art. When small children have chowder poured on their heads to the tune of light ~~my-fire~~ my fire, this is art. When dismembered bodies dance cheerfully in fudge, this is art. When cows stand upright and march to the gr-en light of a blue moon wearing Richard Simmons aerobic wear, this is art. Also, this is-~~ar-t-~~ Art (on the right):

A Draining

The mask undone, she weeps, she cries, she moans.
No pride hath she, t'was drained like blood as drawn from lips of red. Her pallor bides not brawn nor shadowed pain, but marks fate; like stones washed dry by rain. Despoiled is she: mere bones that prop up life. Adrift, alone at dawn she lost all might. Consumed, engulfed: the yawn it robbed a soul. All trace of sparks she owned now tamped down cold. An ashen gaze adorns her face so bare of thought, of passion, blank of wish, nor care. Her tears they ebb and flow as shame disturbs her sleep. No one she scorns except her image deep. Her mind, it sank beneath the layers: awash, awash in woe.

-Jennifer Thomas

" See! I will not forget you...

I have carved you on the palm of my hand. "

- Isaiah 49:15

The Unborn

I am that which you cannot see,
you the unborn child;
a head that tore these virgin roots from soil of half-formed thought.

Sprung from seed,
fed by life;
a mould encased by breathless light.
Alone you stood-
one sacred stone
conceived of flesh;
raw skin, raw bone.

I am that which you will not see,
you the blasted child.
For, echoed throughout these sun-drenched halls, chiselled within my stillborn walls:
the Lost, the Fallen etched in skin,
their forms enchain-ed-
Life's walls are thin.

- Jennifer Thomas

March 10, 1992

The Wake

Rage swelled from the depths tonight.
Unleashed its yellowing screams tonight.
It lashed, poisoned the walls tonight,
tearing them down.

From the faceless wreckage emerged
a woman,
brow glistening with beads of intent.
Like feeble choruses they gathered,
Cleansing beads of release and contempt.
Broken, embittered she brushes them off.
A shredded and shadow torn woman is she.
Reduced, resigned to being abandoned;
slicing the darkness,
shame disturbs
sleep.

I haven't slept

If the physical world derives its existence only through its perception by us, then that which as yet has not been discovered, does not exist. Therefore, true perception is creation?

So many of us, in straining to grasp the heavens, fail even to get as far as the moist, dark soil between our toes.

"How do you know you're God?" he asked.

"Whenever I pray, I find I'm talking to myself."

Hollow Masks

Their eyes condemn her one step closer to death
 Worse than ice icy tentacles sink
 Savage piercing breast to heart.
 Her eyes willowy despair.

Her step, no step at all.

Fear indescribable lulls a crack to appear.

Grey

Warm tongues of orange, red and yellow lick the air, Tasting its sweetness and freshness.
 The orange are bright and lively, the yellow beams of sunshine,
 The red strings of precious rubies
 Imparting a rich glow.
 All of these radiant colours blend mystically and rhythmically-
 Just a blaze of light.
 The fire is like an explosion of brilliance,
 Like a series of candles melting into the night.

But the fire is no longer tasting the air.
 It's eating...
 Houses, trees, lives...
 It's swallowing up the blackness of the night
 And filling it with smoke,
 And lashing tongues burning like hell,
 The tongues of snakes about to devour their victim.
 The only colour left is grey-
 The grey of smoke, the grey of death,
 The grey of the fire.

 Mrs. Varley,
 Could you please

I could be losing my mind in a sea of confusion like a radio station that gradually becomes filled with static sounding like a group of angry bees banging against a screen door trying to get somewhere until you have to turn off the radio or change the channel and that station is dead forever left and forgotten like a pair of shoes in a closet that haven't been touched in years except for a silky layer of dust that someone will find eventually and remember how much they loved them before they throw them out and forget them forever I think I'm losing my mind in a world of delusion where people pass by each other trying as hard as they can to look in a different direction avoiding the truth like when you're somewhere and you run into someone and you say your hello's and how've you been's and oh your house burned down and family's dead's and you just can't remember their name and after your sure I'll call you's and we'll get together soon's you end up living your life with the solid fact in your head that you don't know who the hell this person is and after a few months of wracking your already empty brain you eventually lose track of the thought and forget about whoever forever I'm losing my mind in a life of illusion you really can't grasp what's real anymore in this or any other world because it's just too hard to get the facts straight like when you're sitting across a table from someone who's telling you about their new leather leash when you're really thinking about how much you would like to throw them across the table and teach them a lesson right then and there while the words coming out of your mouth sound like yes I know what you mean they really make them too tight these days all the while they're thinking about how you should really shut up so they can go home and water their fish all this time you're both trying so hard to stay on the same level while the both of you can't even figure out the natural fabric of society and life and you'll both leave and never see each other again and eventually forget them and yourself forever I've lost my mind

A rhythmic pounding within the caverns of my mind, incessant,
beating,
growing louder as I hear it.

I reach for light;
I grasp darkness.

A wave of sheer madness, spite and hysteria sends my soul reeling.
Overwhelming pain, anguish, sorrow,
I stagger.

Its warm, savage breath
scorching my mortal substance.

Thrashing,
rolling,
in the stinging flames of hatred.
Opposite, intangible spirits raging within the ominous clutches of abhorrence.

And then...

I am one with the others.
A caressing wind of equanimity illuminates my soul,
as I soar with the angels along incandescent streams of pure elation.
There is no darkness in this realm.

No.

To Want The Other Side

I call, to the wind, to the aura
It answers, by a breeze, by a feeling
I am, being engulfed, being taken
It holds, rooted to souls, rooted to spirit.
I wish, to be free, to be the wind
It wishes, to be alive, to breathe
To fly and go wherever I please
To be able to sail, not fly, the seas.

LOOK AT YOURSELF

Close your eyes
Look inside
See what you can see,
See what you can hide.

No one will ever know,
Will they?
No one would suspect,
Or would they?

You look and look and still look
You can't believe,
Is It true?
Yes, your conscience never lies.
Or does it?
How could it?
How would it?

All is strange
All is full of change
The motion is too fast
This pace will never last.

Suddenly, all is still Suddenly, the motion is nil
Suddenly, you have found your will.
Suddenly, you lose the urge to kill.

You have found and changed,
Have cleared the hidden.
You are whole
You now are a man
You now are free.
You now can see.

The TRIBE

Ashbury swept past previously unbeaten Charlebois 15-5, 15-9, 15-11 to capture its first volleyball championship ever. Impressive in the victory were Jason Higginson with some key kills and great recoveries; Mike Derouin, strong at the net and an excellent digger; Mike Madden, a power hitter, and Chuck Yansoumi with some devastating kills.

MESSAGE

It may have struck you by now that this book is meant to be amusing and fairly fast-paced. If so, this yearbook staff is succeeding in its purpose, which is to cover the events of this Ashbury year with a sense of humour and sincere respect for the participants.

Unfortunately, a change of tone is necessary in this introduction to the SPORTS section. Check the date on this memo. Members of the Ashburian staff have been trying since the fall term to acquire team photos for the yearbook. The Department of Athletics has been unable to make these photos available to us. It seems that team pictures were not even taken for the spring term. We have tried to cover the sports activities with candid photos donated by various coaches and athletes. We are very grateful for these contributions, but we recognize that coverage does not include every participant. We are sincerely sorry, and ask that concerned readers direct their questions or comments to the office of the Athletics - staff there have more information than anyone here. We also requested complete team lists so that we could at least represent the athletes by name. Again, the Department of Athletics was unable to supply us with same.

Everyone in this community knows what a major portion of our lives here is dominated by sports. This school year ended with major victories for many of our teams. All the Ashburian staff can hope is that this section succeeds in commemorating some part of the importance of athletics here at the school.

GIRLS RUGBY

Initially, some students scoffed at the idea of girls playing rugby at Ashbury but we proved them wrong.

Wow I can't believe I've actually graduated, and so ends a six-year period of education-laced bliss. Life at the school has been great and I'll remember many a thing. Highlights of my illustrious career include: Friday night sking, New Years at Tremblant (closed circuit tv), rugby, chicks ("and my dahlings you know who you are" Fernando-aka Billy Crystal) cross-country sking, my lunch buddies, camp, the Adirondaks, the midget, Guy, Fred & Chris, pick-up soccer, "D'OH! BART!", alpine ski team, the library (who could forget the library-I love you Marp wherever you are!), themes of the week, Saturday detentions "entre amis", freak shaving accidents/mountain bike crashes (BAIL!) and of course sking (did I mention sking?) along with much much more. Eight years is a long time. When I began serving my time at Ashbury in 1984, the last thought on my mind was graduating. To me, the senior school was a distant place, university was an eternity away. Time has flown by – and with disbelief, I anxiously await university and a career in medicine.

To all of the teachers who have understood me and made my Ashbury years so enjoyable: my sincere appreciation.

Jonah Bonn

Lisa Bradford

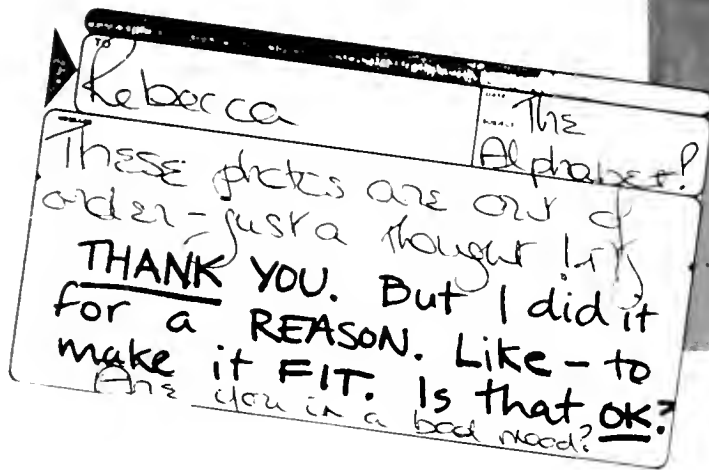

"Honorable mention goes to Lisa Bradford for having acquired the worst attendance record in Ashbury's hundred year history." Although I'm not at school as much as I should be, I've attended often enough to notice Chris Loquacious Mercer's compulsive-obsessive talking disorder, Mrs. Kennedy's pleasant maternal instincts and/or "track someone down like a bloodhound" approach, New House's athletic proficiency, Mr. Grainger's potential for stardom over Rod Stewart's present success, and Mr. Zrudlo's genuine "too sexiness." I would like to extend a special thanks to Caroline Brisson for emergency French notes (vrs. 2,3,4,5), to a staff of patient and understanding teachers, to E.W.Z., who has taught me valuable lessons in essay writing, the importance of pink paper, and that it is possible to waste a whole period at Ashbury College building champagne pyramids. Especially special thanks goes to J.N., who has been and continues to be a great friend, to anyone who has lent me money for urgent tuck undertakings, to my parents for not making me blonde, and to Melanie Quevillon for her biting but well-meaning sarcasm and crude remarks of sexual connotation. Good luck to all the grads, I'll miss Ashbury a lot. This is getting sapppy, so I'll sign off saying "whatever nevermind" – Nirvana

 Do you remember the nights we tried to die?
 The nights we heard the seraphim cry
 Upon your dreams I laid to rest

PROFILE: I am graduating this year! Time flies so quickly! These two years brought me a lot of memories, both good and bad. Boarding life is fun, except for the "in house weekends". Thank to everyone - especially Jill - who put up with me and made me smile; it was more than memorable - and often crazy - but always most amusing!

Here's to the friends - the memories - and the uncontrollable fits of tear jerking laughter. Cheers.

"What is that feeling when you're driving away from people and they recede on the plane till you see their specs disappearing? It's the too huge world vaulting us - and it's goodbye. But we lean forward to the next crazy venture beneath the skies."

Jack Kerouac

Andrew Fletcher Cole

He was silent for a while. "No, it is impossible; it is impossible to convey the life sensation of any given epoch of one's existence - that which makes its truth, its meaning - its subtle and penetrating essence. It is impossible. We live, as we dream - alone..." He paused again as if reflecting, then added "Of course in this you fellows see more than I could then. You see me, whom you know."

- Joseph Conrad Heart of Darkness

My time at Ashbury has come to a cheerless close. It was nine years ago when I first entered the hallowed halls of this institution and became a dweller of its "Green Basement". Following four fulfilling years of friendly fervour and frenetic frenzy in the Junior School, I took a necessary repose for a couple of years. Returning in grade eleven and persevering to the present, I have witnessed and experienced significant changes in both my life and that of the school. In retrospect, numerous fond memories come to mind. To all those teachers - friends, peers and acquaintances, (past, present and departed) who contributed toward these treasured moments, I am most grateful. But above all, I wish to thank my parents who provided me with the opportunity to attend this curious College. To them I am eternally indebted for all the sacrifices that they have made, the times of understanding and encouragement that they have shown and ultimately for believing in me and never once doubting my abilities to succeed.

John Colin Craig

POSITION: Stealth Prefect (the one nobody notices)
STATUS: Whipped

PROFILE: John claims to be a Scottish member of the United Federation of Planets. "Captain, I cannae giv' ye nae more!" However he has never been caught "beaming" anyone. His true expertise lies in the field of finding ways to embarrass himself by making unsubstantiated claims about topics he has little knowledge of. "Well, Ms. Novick, women do have that extra layer of fat!"

LATEST ACCOMPLISHMENTS: One conference, two detentions (RIC), three-sixties, four shots of Sambucca, five years knowing Alex Koshy, six-packs, seven-a-side rugby, ate poutine without spewing, nine OAC's, ten-ding towards university. To quote Dean: "Stick a fork in me, I'm done."

WHY I DO WHAT I DO: Tough question. John grips his pencil tightly, wondering what people will remember about him. Deakin smashes down the hall, lights go out, boarders scramble.

QUOTES: "A prince, therefore, being compelled knowingly to adopt the beast, ought to choose the fox and the lion, because the lion cannot defend himself against snares and the fox cannot defend himself against wolves. Therefore, it is necessary to be a fox to discover the snares and a lion to terrify the wolves." - Machiavelli, The Prince Simone a.k.a. short, fat, white, ugly Trinidadian with no accent.

During my two years at Ashbury, I have grown several inches, been accepted as "one of the guys" and discovered that caffeine is vital for a semi-normal appearance. In all seriousness, life has been great. To my ex-roommates who put up with my morning face for an entire year: please use a bottle. As for the guy in the Queen's sweatshirt, thank you for the champagne, the strawberries and the fun. My preps would not have been survived without the intervention of the girls on MY floor (who lived in sheer terror of me), as well as that poor tourist-disease sufferer from first floor. A final word must be said to thank my big brothers (I didn't need the protection), Joseph (hot & sour soup, banana-chocolate-chip ice cream) and to all of those teachers and friends who have taught me that all I know, is that I know nothing.

Words of wisdom: refrain from doing the Lambada while chair-dancing and don't go to Jamaica with four BIG brothers.

Oliver Dickel

The time that I dreaded for so long and then anxiously awaited has finally come. Graduation to me not only means the completion of high school but also marks the end of six impressionable years in Canada. The experiences and knowledge gained in this time including the English language have shaped my life significantly. Returning to Germany should prove to be a challenge but it will also provide me with the first opportunity to find a more permanent home close to my family. Thank you Mom and Dad for making these experiences possible and for supporting me in all my endeavors. Good luck to all the Grads in their pursuit of knowledge and in fulfilling their dreams.

"May God give us the composure to accept that which cannot be changed the courage to change that which can be changed and the wisdom to distinguish one from the other."

Graduation, I never really realized it would be my turn to graduate. Even at this moment it feels as though another grade is graduating. Maybe it'll click in after I've graduated. Anyways, ready or not I guess it's time to graduate. Being forced up the steps of society, not being able to do what you please without someone lecturing, scolding, or pointing fingers toward you. I guess that's just what responsibility and growing up is all about. It's just too bad that I'm not at that point yet. I may have looked forward to graduating like everybody else. Anyways, there is no use babbling about something that cannot be helped.

I would like to thank everybody that I spoke to, heard, and saw for making my life at Ashbury great. I would especially like to thank Dave, Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton, Matt, Bas, Dean, Mr. Deakin, Mr. Anderson, Alex L., my mom, my dad, Archie, Akira, and Richie Rich.

Rob Kenny

Five years at Ashbury has seen me progress from a weird little kid to... well, a very weird big kid (I blame this on the people I call friends). Over these years I have managed to grow an affinity to playing on the line, understood A and C (I think), expressed myself artistically while remaining clothed, not make an enemy out of everyone I met, encountered some very interesting and friendly parents (M.S., E.C.), survived outdoor ed., joined a terrorist organization, learned left from right as well as bled profusely on the rugby field, and generally discovered not to take life or Ashbury too seriously. To everyone (you know who you are), thanks.

Alex Koshy

The five years I've enjoyed at Ashbury have left me with a lot of people to thank and a lot of memories. My run-in at the Rideau Centre, Bassel's birthday party, Bryan Adams with 10 people in my car and everything afterwards. The Choir trip and trying to find Roy Thompson with Kev H. The Dominican – things I can't remember (Thanks to Pete, Rob, Dave and Andrew for getting me home that first night). The day after Dominican – Montreal in March in shorts with Becky, Pete, Basic Instinct (Hey, Pete wake up this is interesting). Hide and seek on the flats. Playing in Toronto traffic with "we're not worthy Horseman"... Those can't be REAL. A special thank you to Andrew P. for separating me and the Rockcliffe RCMP (thanks for calling them John).

Higher Physics Blues. The rowing crew, early morning practice, St. Catherines, Montreal and shopping in strange stores with Mel. D.Q., McDonalds, Olive Gardens with Pete, Dave, John, getting busted at Daniels during our conference. Driving with Dave "crutches 10 points". Lunch conversations with RJC and table. Walking to Frankie's and climbing the U.N. tower... getting busted with Kevin H. and Peter F.

Goodbye and Thanks to KDN, GRV, FGW, DOC, DRW, RJC, DDL and LT.

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, we had everything before us, we had nothing before us..."

I suppose that Dickens best describes my 6 years at Ashbury. I owe much thanks to many. To Mr. Simpson, Mr. Valentine, Mr. Humphreys, and PMcL for helping me through Junior School. To the friends with whom I have grown up during my Ashbury career, and whose friendship and camaraderie I will forever appreciate. To KDN, both a teacher and friend I could rely upon.

I have experienced much, but there are some memories I will never forget (and some I wish I COULD forget!). Character building, Dominican Republic (I'm sooooo hosed), three "nights of greatness", hockey, choir trips, the fashion show, wine and wings, New Years, La Londres, Ready-to-go, Zeus.

I leave Ashbury wishing success and happiness to all my fellow graduates, and those to come in future years. Respect.

Although I have spent only three years at Ashbury, it feels like forever. The best times of my life were either at Ashbury, or with the friends I've made at Ashbury. Ashbury has had the single greatest positive impact in shaping my life. Memories of high school include missing a few classes at Nepean High School, wrestling at Nepean and good friends like Chris and Dan. At Ashbury I was introduced to sports.

The best friends a guy could ever have: 'Haywire' Kahoru Hagiya, my keespar bredren Zac Harding, and my first friend and roommate at Ashbury, Erik Dinelle. Rooming with Woodro Woodford Mr. POSE, was definitely a laugh, and the Grad Trip to Jamaica was a big blast. I'd like to thank Mr. Napier for the second chance, Mr. Deakin for his trust and football tutelage, and Mrs. Kennedy, for all her faith. Thanks for everything. PROFILE: Crusty, you came to us one September morn last year, wearing your Polo shirt, Gap jeans, Calvin Klein socks, J.L.Bean shoes and announced you were here to stay. Oh my God. We didn't know what we were in for. You started off quietly enough, but midway through the year, a wild woman was set loose, running down the halls, chasing men. Your negative influence introduced our innocent minds to the world of Oreganos, lingerie shopping and naughty pleasure objects. You have mastered the art of fixing your hair in people's sunglasses, a talent of which we are envious. Your twisted sense of humor will be fondly remembered. Don't ever change, Crust. LATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT: Life!

WHY I DO WHAT I DO: I'm blonde. Why else?

QUOTE: "Begin with an individual, and before you know it, you find that you have created a type, and you find that you have created nothing. That is because we are all queer fish, queerer behind our faces and voices than we want anyone to know, or than we know ourselves."

DESTINATION: International Blonde's Convention, Venice Beach, California

Special Thanks to Mr. Thomas, Mrs. Jowett, and A.D.S. all their support and especially for keeping me sane! This year would not have been possible without you

Andrew Pepper

Andrew the Late Pepper. Although timeliness has always been my forte, I would like to extend my warmest gratitude to those who put up with my occasional lapses. (Incidentally, this was handed in on time, I think) Anyway, love and lust goes out to the last live of FAB FORM 5 and our educators and teachers. And you all darn well deserve to be called one. THANK YOU. This also extends to friends O'SHROOM, and those who loved to hate me. By the way, my first name is ANDREW – some don't know. Trust me. Call me Pep, Peps, Pepperhead (phallic?), Studmuff, hey you, Herb, yahoo, Brad's friend guido, and numerous other niceties(?) that you can think of, but please try to remember something good because someday I'll be back to thank you. Oh yeah, all the rum(-)ours – sorry, they lied, you gullible duh-heads. To the men and women of 1992, going to miss the times we had and times we didn't. But you have witnessed my Hyde and Jekylls and still didn't lose thy faith. If you understood me, tell me, 'cause it'll take years before I do. Maybe then I'll be one of each of you but I'll always be searching for others to tease and please, smile with guile. Love Kyle, I mean PEP. VERLICHT NISN WEG, BABY Love, KAPT KABOOM

NJ – We can't print THIS. → It's obscene. → Remind me to replace it with something before we send it to Commercial Printers. -KJ PLEASE!

Megan Pound

PROFILE: about 5'10", Thanks Sparky, big huge forehead (related to EARS and joined to NOSE). A.K.A. Moog, Pundation, Timber.

LATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT: Phys. Ed. Office – always there causing trouble and talk sessions especially late night ones. Sports: Three city championships, five OFSAA's, ROADTRIPS: To all the junk food eaten – it's been great! Julie and Jill's unrelated conversations in the middle of the night, Jill's Christmas singing, running out of gas on the 401 – dancing on the Ashbury Van – life is a highway! Dairy Queen. They certainly treated me right, craving – especially during latin classes, dragging Jill from class for an emergency trip. Olive Garden 1 2...123 from the pasta we've eaten. Drinking Sambucca shots with Jeff. Cottage: All the memories. Montreal. Trips down in the HAMBURG, the FORUM – best hot dogs in the world and games of course, Peel Pub – no more pitchers please!, long walks home, Rubin's.

WHY I DO WHAT I DO: Food and Men – or is it the other way around? Anyways 'NUFF said.

QUOTES: "SCHNOOTZ", "SAFETY", "Where did who go?!", "Yeeha! Jester's Dead", "Work it, own it", "Top shelf, right up there with the boxers", "Don't touch me. I don't know where your hands have been." – RIC, "Had it. Been there. Got some of that." Right Julie? "I've all my wisdom teeth, two up top, two beneath and yet I'll recognize my mouth says things that aren't so wise" – Crash Test Dummies.

DESTINATION: Greatness, with a stop in Barcelona and a few D.Q.'s and O.C.'s along the way. To my friends: "Thanks for coming out!" Especially Julie, Jill, Claire, Geh, Hugh, and Jeff, for without you guys there would be no memories and Ashbury would have been unbearable. Thanks to RIA, IHD, RIC, SKCC, MRM, Judi, and Sparky. You have taught me some valuable lessons. Let's hope I was listening at the time. Special thanks to my family for all their help and advice especially during the tough times. "It's not whether you win or lose, it's who you take home after the game." "All I ask is to live each moment free from the last." – Crowded House

Melanie Quevillon

I have bought my Grad ring, my parents have mounted my terrible Grad photo, and I've reserved my table for Grad. I suppose the next logical step would be to Graduate. But I love non sequiturs.

I thank every one of my teachers for your patience, guidance, and sense of humour. You make Ashbury what it is. I thank Mr. Simpson and Mr. Menzies for introducing me to an entirely new world. Your dedication through the sweat and tears inspires me.

To my men: "stroke long, drive hard, come first."

I thank Mom, Dad, Grandmaman, Lou and Bear for your sacrifice and support. And to my friends: I couldn't have asked for a more amazing group of people. I thank each and every one of you for dealing with my "emotional rollercoaster" personality. I've had some incredible times during these last three years and I owe it to all of you. Please keep in touch. The most frightening thing is I think, the possibility of people forgetting.

Saying goodbye seems so final, so: "SMELL YA LATER."

Sean Reid

PROFILE: In the beginning, God created a land of promise and wonder. A land of lush meadows and lush woods where breezes danced peacefully amongst the flowers and trees. He called it Navan and was well pleased. The Lord then felt an occupant was needed for his beautiful creation. So with the very dusts of the ground he molded and sculpted a man most suitable for such a place. He called him Sean and was well pleased. I am Sean of Navan.

LATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT: The Pianoman JR just recently completed a minor concert tour of the Dominican Republic and the greater Ottawa-Carleton Region.

WHY I DO WHAT I DO: It keeps me occupied, and I like the attention.

DESTINATION: I will soon be moving to the big city where I will endeavor to put together an album. As the album's popularity grows to colossal proportions I will go on a massive global tour. Living the life of a humble minstrel, I will play music until my eventual, peaceful departure to the Big Piano Bar in the Sky.

Saturday morning found me itchin' to get on over to my grandma's kitchen
the sweetest little berries was cookin' up right and then we put 'em
in a cannin' jar
and seal 'em up tight
we were making jam
strawberry jam

if you want the best jam you got to make your own
we have smucker's
Welch's, Knott's
Berry Farm
but a little home made jam
never did a body
no harm

Greg Scorsone

PROFILE He is man of steel, encased in a shield of Red and Hair. Some call him Lobster, others the Testosterone man, and we mustn't discount Scorexxy. He is a man who is not ashamed to flaunt his Italian character to impress women while playing up his chest scar. Not only is he a walking radar with women, but his smile never escapes him. He came to Ashbury in grade eight as a low key, thick eye-glass type of guy and left a robust, studly womanizer. But we mustn't disregard his more sincere qualities. He is always willing to give a helping hand and believe it or not does have a serious side. One can safely say that Greg arrived a hairy boy and left as an even hairier man.

LATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT failing Mr. Stahleford's math tests consecutive

WHY I DO WHAT I DO You should never argue with a crazy mind. You oughta know by now. Because life would be really boring if I don't.

QUOTE "You're only human, you're allowed to make your share of mistakes. You better believe there will be times in your life when you'll be feeling like a stumbling fool. So take it from me you'll learn more from your accidents, than anything you could ever learn at school" - Billy Joel

Dave Sebasta

PROFILE At first glance Dave appears to be your typical 6'4" devil worshipping pyromaniac. Upon closer investigation he really is. Among his hobbies Dave enjoys jelly squishies, playing with Crusty hair, and driving like there's no tomorrow. "I'm going to hit him!" And you say I need some serious drugs? Never change, well, on second thought!

LATEST ACCOMPLISHMENTS Surviving the grad trip, Pembroke Teaching girl's rugby, and teaching skiing, Boston (the tour guide, the bus driver, the wedge), Nova Scotia (the hole in the window, the imperial theatre), birthday parties, grade seven boarding, lunches down the hill, trying to find "Le Raltsman", the music department, and keeping my sanity for these seven long years. Thanks to all the friends and teachers that made my stay here what it was. I'm not making a list of names, you should know who you are.

WHY I DO WHAT I DO Why not?

DESTINATION The real world.

QUOTES "Been dazed and confused for so long it's not true" - Led Zeppelin. "The prince of darkness is a gentleman" - unknown. "Still waters run deep" - unknown.

Ted Sherwood

Although he came to Ashbury in grade nine, Ted's life did not begin in earnest until grade twelve. Specifically, it was the first Physicks class of that year, and when he finally got his contacts. Throughout his high school career, Ted has enjoyed skiing everywhere, and playing rugby and music endlessly. Recently, Ted has been foraging into the uncharted wilds of Northern Ontario, much to his friends' titilation, especially the guys at the lunch table. He enjoys the formal dances up there, as well as the not so formal cottage parties and the superlative nachos and coffee. There are many people I wish to say thank you and goodbye to, thank you and goodbye, but here a few special mentions, in no particular order: DS - the best friend a guy can have, TC - the weirdest friend a guy can have, CS - the nuttiest friend a guy can have, JB - the king of doing homework on time and lending to others to copy, TM - who I wish could have been here for our grad year. I really needed her, salvation from the idiosyncrasy and fakery I see every day. I value it greatly. Things're lookin' up, eh? I hope everyone is looking forward to the rest of their lives like I am. "To face an insane world sanely is perfectly sane, to face an insane world sanely is sheer insanity." Little known Pembroke saying.

Canto Heffe the Hosed Head Boy

PROFILE: 6'1", 168 lbs. Indo-Anglo-Chinese-Scotsman who came to Ashbury in grade seven and never went home.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS Seven years at Ashbury with some remnant of sanity. Lived through school trips to both coasts (Vancouver with soccer, Halifax with Music). Managed to spend an entire day at home in Nepean. Was civil to someone for more than ten consecutive minutes.

THANX Andre B - for being you. I can't describe it better than that. Anthony H - you spent two weeks with me in the Dominican and didn't kill me. Kevin B - there's no one else I would rather be second to all the time. LAT and AN - two of the most exceptional teachers and people I've ever met. The Soccer Teams. Everyone who lived through the Junior School RIC - for showing me the uses of third year analysis. The Jazz Band - Everyone, for making my last year so memorable.

QUOTE: "Unlucky, son"; "Jeff, why are you so mean?" - R. Sandiford. "Because it makes me feel good" - J. Singh. "Why worry? There should be laughter after pain. There should be sunshine after rain. These things have always been the same. So why worry now?" - Dire Straits.

SILLY THINGS TO DO by E.D. Silly

1. Take a piece of blue note paper and stick it on the side of a chicken. Then frighten the chicken.
2. If you live in Manitoba, the Yukon, or Nova Scotia go: BOINGGG!
3. Put a chair in the front garden and put a television on it.
4. Buy a packet of jelly bears and leave them outside the National Library.
5. If you bank with Canada Trust, go see the Manager on Jan. 6th 1993, and talk in a very high voice.

Kym Wyatt

Well my four years at Ashbury have finally come to an end. Now to summarize it all into a few lines. My one year of Outdoor Ed will not be forgotten. I'll forever hear "Wake up Crue!" ringing in my ears. I'll miss travelling in from Carp every morning or maybe not. Sometime soon I hope to go to Spain and live on the beach forever. Carlos, thanks for always being there for me, te quiero muchos. For the few that were true, I will never be untrue.

Josephine Yang

We have known Jo for quite some time now - we have each seen eyeglasses, braces, funny haircuts, bad pictures - and here she is now - the crazed nymphomaniac tennis player we all know and love - Jo is the Queen of Inside Jokes (remember when - Mistress of Obsession and worst critic of herself - She will be remembered for her feigned innocence and twisted humor - her optimism for others - her superstitions, and - most of all - her ability to put Dean in his place when he gets out of line - Her gift to beat men at their game continues to astound us (left and Hugh doing their water aerobics)

Jo's calm - collected front on the court and in everyday life is always kept well balanced by a string of incomprehensible Chinese obscenities she belts at herself - She was first known to both of us through Elmwood - fond memories of angelic Jo in Mrs. Schmidt's class - In school, she remains the meticulous model student - but in her free time she turns into an out-of-control maniac who does sit-ups, "jumping jacks", runs tricycles into walls and sleeps on broken beds - Jo is always surrounded by her men - a true "man's lady" - She continues to love "RICE RICE RICE RICE RICE", and will never hesitate to share her half-digested food with the rest of her friends ("HOW RUDE!").

A message to Jo - Joey, stay drunk on life - Here's to years of strong friendship and more to come, no matter where we are! Long live female bonding.. (no, not bondage)

Love,
Caro and Mel

P.S. Don't forget to keep in touch with your "Kingston Car Family" - we don't want to be abandoned by mom

Jonathan Yen

First - I have to thank my Mom and Dad for paying the tuition that allowed me to have the Ashbury experience - Thanks to all the teachers who taught me in Ashbury - both junior and senior schools, but special thanks has to go to Mr. Coles and to Mr. Thomas - To Vipob and Ionah, thanks for letting me help you on your homework - Andrew, though your presence wasn't always welcome, your input always was - And to all the friends I made over the years like Gigi, Wojtek, Al, Shamp, Gordon, Joe H., Mohsin, Oscar - and all the others I didn't mention - you made my life at Ashbury memorable, and sometimes even enjoyable

LATEST ACCOMPLISHMENTS Besides giving Ken Campbell a candy cane, I would have to say my latest accomplishment would be beating Vipob in Streetfighter II

DESTINATION Though I am going to university now - my real destination would have to be a bookstore that has all the books that I want
